TRIAL MARRIAGE OUTTE THE THING IN FAR NORTH

on Minto Inlet we went into winter quarters with some of the Eskimos to show us the ropes. The autumn is their time for weddings and most of the girls get married between the ages of 15 and 16. They pick a man they want and go ask him to marry them; or the man may do the asking. I talked to some of the pundits of Coronation about that and the old men told me it was better to let a woman pick her own man because it saved a lot of trouble afterwards.

"If there is trouble the girl goes back to her people or she need not do so. The man may take another wife, and, for that matter, two more, and the wives seem to live together in harmony. I lived with one man who had three wives and with one woman who had two husbands. The women who had two husbands always managed to keep one of them out fishing a good part of the time. She didn't seem to care which one.

"Now, we hear a great deal of the Eskimo custom of rubbing noses. There is nothing to that so far as my observation goes. They kiss just like other people, and seem to be fond of kissing. When a girl likes you she kisses you. If she forms a tender attachment for you she declares herself without the slightest embarrassment. Some of the girls are really pretty when one gets used to them."

WOMAN ABOARD ZEPPELIN WHICH RAIDED LONDON?

CORSET STAYS FOUND IN WRECK OF AIRSHIP SHOT TO EARTH

London, Oct 5.—Ten Zeppelins took part in the last raid over England. Two of them attempted to attack London. One of them was driven away and the other, as was reported last night, was destroyed.

One of the extraordinary stories current about the destroyed Zeppelin is that a woman's corset stays were found in the wreckage. The suggestion is that a woman was among the passengers and it is suggested she may have been one of count Zeppelin's relatives.

Falling Airship Breaks

The airship shot down, crumpled up and broke into several pieces as it plunged earthward before the eyes of thousands of Londoners.

Fragments fell from five to six yards apart and with them mangled bits of bodies. Thus far the corpses of thirteen Germans have been recovered. The bodies of the other Zeppelin sailors are believed to have been incinerated.

Unlike previous raids in the vicinity of London last night's attack was signaled by no tremendous gun fire. A few shots from anti-aircraft guns brought thousands to the roof tops or to the streets throughout London. They gazed toward the starlit heavens while searchlights converged their silver shafts on a Zeppelin, the whir of whose engines could be heard very faintly.

A small red streak in the heavens gradually grew into a ball of fire. Burns for Time in Air.

For several seconds the burning airship rested on even keel. Then, it tilted downward and shot earthward like a rocket. Pieces of flaming material separated themselves from the main mass, dropping along the side in long, flaming tongues that gave the glancing fiery mass the appearance of a comet.

The commander of the destroyed Zeppelin was found in a field near part of the wreck this morning, still alive, but terribly injured. He had been driven into the wreckage with such force that the imprint of his body was plainly visible when he was picked up.

Official Report of Raid

An official statement issued this afternoon says:

Police reports show that the British casualties in last night's raid were one man killed and one woman injured. The material damage was insignificant, although the raiders covered a wide area and dropped a great number of bombs. Four houses were severely damaged. Some glass houses were demolished and a number of windows were broken.

Berlin's Sorry of Raid

Berlin, via London, Oct 5.—With reference to the air raid on London and the east coast of England the following brief official announcement was issued this afternoon.

CAUSE OF DIVORCE IS SYSTEM, SAYS JUDGE HUDSON

SEVENTY-FIVE DIVORCE CASES ON DOCKET IN WASHINGTON COUNTY: WOMEN PLAINTIFFS

Bartlesville, Oct 5.—That the present system is largely to blame for so many unhappy homes and the spread of the divorce evil, instead of the divorce and marriage laws, is the statement of Judge Henry Hudson of the district. This comment was made in the court when his attention was called to the fact that at least seventy-five divorce cases were on the docket in the district court. Many of these cases will come up for trial at this term of court. In ninety percent of the cases women are plaintiffs.

Let me say that one great trouble with the spread of the divorce evil is because of the present divorce system, said Judge Hudson. I mean by that that too many women, both married and single, go about the streets nights without chaperones. There appears to be a disposition on the part of certain married women that because their husbands are kept away from home nights, in many instances because of business, that they should absent themselves from their homes. That is a mistaken idea and is sure to have a bad effect upon the home.

I have an old fashioned idea that the place for the wife is in the home. There are many other features to present conditions that are in need of radical changes and when this is accomplished you will see a check to the spread of the divorce evil.
